

Motors And Their Care

Avoid Spinning Wheels

When driving through muddy spots or a bad hole, always remember the slower the wheels turn the better the chance the car has of gripping the surface.

Better Things

The best possible ways of putting smooth-riding quality into an automobile are: Better roads, better tires, better springs, better shock absorbers and better upholstery.

Adjustment of Brakes

When putting on additional weight to a car especially refitting a heavy winter top to the body, it is necessary that a careful adjustment of the brakes be made for the extra burden.

New Use of Old Tires

A worn "shoe" can be cut into sections two inches wide, connected by gvanized wire, and placed over the new tire, serving both as an anti-skid device and as a protection to the new tire.

Comfortable Hand Warmer

A successful method of keeping the hands warm in cold weather is the wrapping of a strip of sheepskin three inches wide, with the wool on the outside, around the steering wheel of the car.

Lubricating Overlooked Part

The interior of the flexible speedometer driving shaft is probably the most neglected part of the mechanism of the car. When applying oil, the best lubricant for the shaft is a light grade of grease or non-fluid oil.

A Cause of Carbon Deposit

Retarding the spark to slow down the speed of an engine causes carbon formation. To reduce the speed of a car when in motion, close the throttle, disconnect the engine from the rear wheels by disengaging the clutch, and apply the brakes.

The Exhaust Pipe

Sharp bends in the exhaust pipe are likely to create back-pressure, or prevent the free escape of burned gases passed out from the cylinders. These pipes are extended as straight as possible from the engine to the muffler, and a sharp bend or dented impression should be avoided.

Anti-Free Solution

Neutral alcohol is considered the most popular of all anti-freeze agents because it does not act on metal or on the rubber connections. Glycerine has proven effective, but costly. Calcium chloride is the most easily-prepared solution, but an extremely dangerous one to use in the cooling system.

Luggage a Hazard

Motorists who are in the habit of carrying luggage should never attach the bundles or trunk upon the running board on the left side of the car. Very often there is a misjudgment by the driver on a country road of from 15 to 18 feet in width, and an accident to the car and possibly to the occupants results.

Calomel Salivates Even When Careful

Treacherous Drug Can Not Be Trusted and Next Dose May Start Trouble

Calomel is dangerous. It may salivate you and make you suffer fearfully from soreness of gums, tenderness of jaws and teeth, swollen tongue, and excessive saliva dribbling from the mouth. Don't trust calomel. It is mercury; quicksilver.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Adv.

For Indigestion, Gas, Sour, Acid Stomach Take "Dipsepsin"

"Pape's Dipsepsin" is the quickest, surest relief for Indigestion, Gases, Flatulence, Heartburn, Sourness, Fermentation or Stomach Distress caused by acidity. A few tablets gives almost immediate stomach relief and shortly the stomach is corrected so you can eat favorite foods without fear. Large case costs only few cents at drug store. Millions helped annually.—Adv.

wonderful discoveries which recharge the storage battery in 20 minutes should be avoided. These "rejuvenators" will have an injurious effect, and do more harm than good. The only normal way to recharge a battery is to pass a current of electricity through it, and avoid injuring it or shortening its life.

Clogged Radiator Cells

The spaces between cells of a radiator should be kept free from mud and dirt, or overheating of the engine may result. When cleaning the radiator, direct a stream of water from a hose through the cells from the inside toward the front; never the opposite way. Water forced through the front of the car may temporarily prevent the ignition system from functioning by soaking the wires, causing a short circuit.

Smashing Motors

Many of the good automobiles are more valuable when broken up than they are as cars in running order. This is on account of the splendid material used in their construction. The cushions of all the good old cars were stuffed with the best horsehair, a commodity which stands at a prohibitive figure just now. The magneto of a four or six-cylinder car is easily disposed of, and then there are lamps, switches, dashboard instruments and a speedometer. Wheels are always salable, and old tires go into the rubber heap and sell well. The windshields and the glass in the covered body are worth money, and all the hood and door fittings can be renickelized and sold.

NOTES

Be careful when inserting tubes.
Drain the vacuum tank for impurities.

Have the carburetor adjusted for cold weather.

Keep your tires properly inflated at all times.

Universal joints should be packed with grease every 1,000 miles of running.

The average automobile owner keeps his car 28 months and runs it 17,000 miles.

Many motor drivers distinguish their cars by the knocks, squeaks, rattles and clattering noises—this is all wrong.

New style anti-skid chains for automobiles are clamped directly to wheel spokes without the use of side chains.

A continuous clicking, wheezing or squeaking noise in a cylinder is generally a sign of loose or worn piston parts.

A large number of accidents are caused by driving on the wrong side of the road, or by "hogging" the center of the highway.

Among the latest inventions for motor vehicles is an attachment to the gasoline tank, which whistles when the petrol is getting low.

The specific gravity of the electrolyte of an idle battery may drop from 1,300 (fully charged) to 1,200 (between one-quarter and one-half charged) in about eight weeks.

Christmas Eve in the Kitchen

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

By ELEANOR E. KING.

IN THE kitchen of an apartment building in the city was seated a large, husky man with a little girl of about seven, on one knee, and a boy of perhaps six, on the other knee.

"But grandpa, I don't see why Santa Claus doesn't come," said little Doris. "We have waited so long out here in this old kitchen."

At this, Master Fred laboriously climbed down from his grandpa's knee and ran over to the kitchen door, and then to the window.

"Isn't it disgusting, grandpa? I can't even see him coming."

"Well, you know," said grandpa, as Fred climbed back upon his knee, "Santa Claus was a little boy once himself, and he knows how impatient little boys are. He has a hard time, though. Every year he has more boys and girls to bring toys to than he had the year before."

"But grandpa," said Doris, "I never knew Santa Claus was ever a little boy."

"Oh, yes," asserted grandpa firmly. "Once upon a time a group of fairies were playing around in an open place under some trees and they found a little baby asleep. They took the baby to their queen. The fairies loved the little baby, so they begged the queen to let them keep him and take care of him. The queen consented and the little boy 'Claus' thrived under the care of the fairies."

"S-h-h! Grandpa, I think he's coming, interrupted Fred as he again climbed down and ran to the window. "Nothing doing," he said with much disgust and gave a signal with his arm like the flagman does when telling a train to go.

Grandpa obeyed the signal and continued: "He lived under the care of the fairies until he grew to be quite a man. Then the queen ordered her fairy workmen to build 'Claus' a hut, as he was a mortal and could not live the way the fairies did, any longer. 'Claus' had lots of time when he got into his new home and he occupied it by carving things. The fairies had taught him how to whittle and he began making all sorts of toys."

"There was a village some distance from his hut and every time he heard of a little boy or girl down in the village who was sick, he took them one of his little toys. The children grew to like him ever so much. After a while he became acquainted with so many children that he found it hard to get around and see them all so often. He decided that he would work all year making toys, and then go around and find out which of the children had been good, and leave them presents."

"When the fairies heard of this plan they were delighted and gave Santa Claus four reindeer and a sled to help him out."

"After many years of this hard work Santa Claus began to show that he was growing old. The fairies realized that Santa Claus was a mortal and would die, so they—"

"Santa Claus has come," some one shouted from the front room.

"Hurry, grandpa. What did they do?" queried Doris nervously.

"They gave Santa Claus everlasting life so that he could make little children happy always," finished grandpa. "Oh, I am so glad," said both of the kiddies.

"Now, to see what Santa brought," said grandpa, and all three made a rush for the parlor.

Served Eight Years For Another's Crime

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 8.—Circumstances that have been brought to light since the incarceration of Frank Dietzel, in the state prison eight years ago, for the murder of George Wehman, in Obion county, influenced Gov. Taylor to issue a pardon to the prisoner Thursday.

which he was convicted indicated that he had shot and killed Wehman apparently for the purpose of robbery. Wehman was looked upon in Union City, his home, as a miser. His dead body was found several days after the murder, hidden in an old well.

It now develops that a laborer at Tampa, Fla., giving his name as Semones, confessed in the presence of three substantial witnesses that he, Semones, committed the murder and that Dietzel was innocent. He claimed that he and Wehman had fallen out over $800. Three days later Semones disappeared and has never been heard of since. One of the three witnesses was formerly mayor of McKenzie, Tenn., and was at one time member of the state democratic executive committee.

These facts were obtained by Dr. F. M. McRee, of Union City, former commissioner of agriculture, while he was visiting in Tampa.

Another circumstance that tends to increase the doubt as to the guilt of Dietzel, is the fact that Dr. Glos-
